

“Audrey”

Audrey Hepburn (born Audrey Kathleen Ruston; 4 May 1929 – 20 January 1993) was a British actress, model, dancer and humanitarian. Recognized as a film and fashion icon, Hepburn was active during Hollywood's Golden Age. She was ranked by the American Film Institute as the third-greatest female screen legend in Golden Age Hollywood and was inducted into the International Best Dressed List Hall of Fame. (Wikipedia)

Audrey has many attributed quotes. Two that stand out to me are:

“Why change? Everyone has his own style. When you have found it, you should stick to it.”

And,

“Let's face it, a nice creamy chocolate cake does a lot for a lot of people; it does for me.”
