

Buffalo Rider

Buffalo Rider is an original acrylic painting on Birch panel, measuring 18” x 12”. It was created in 2024.

This piece was inspired by the American buffalo, which is a sacred animal in Native American culture. The buffalo’s strength is a reminder to stand up for what one believes in.

Although Native Americans did not ride buffalos, I depicted one riding the buffalo because the buffalo was considered to be a relative and a part of themselves. Inspiration was also drawn from a picture of Motorhead’s lead vocalist, Lemmy Kilmister, riding a buffalo.

For a laugh, check out Guy on a Buffalo by Jomo and the Possum Posse.