

“Dragon’s Lair”

This piece of fan art was created for a group art show based on video games. I remember when the game first came to the arcade in 1983, and how the laserdisc graphics were far superior to the other games we were playing.

This piece features the hero of the game, Dirk the Daring, and the evil dragon, Singe. Dirk’s mission in the game was to rescue Princess Daphne.

The characters were designed by an ex-Disney animator, Don Bluth.

Dragon’s Lair (Original 20” x 16” – Acrylic on Birch Panel)